

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. A dental material delivery pad for adhesive attachment to a hand or glove, comprising:
a delivery pad comprising a paper board laminated with metal foil, said pad having a delivery portion and an attachment portion, a top surface and a bottom surface; and a plurality of foldlines on the top surface of the delivery portion of said pad for forming sidewall portions of said pad, said sidewalls being upwardly foldable along said foldlines for facilitating the containment of dental material on said delivery portion of said pad.
2. The delivery pad of claim 1 further including an adhesive on the bottom surface of the attachment portion of said pad.
3. The delivery pad of claim 2 further including an adhesive on the top surface of the attachment portion of said pad.
4. The delivery pad of claim 3 further including a peel-off label covering the adhesive on the top portion of said pad.
5. The delivery pad of claim 4 wherein said peel-off label further includes printed advertising.
6. The delivery pad of claim 1 wherein said foldlines are convergent to a point on the edge of the pad in the direction extending away from said attachment portion.
7. An arrangement of dental material delivery pads comprising a plurality of delivery pads as described in claim 2, said pads being arranged in a row and each individually adhesively affixed to a carrier strip.